

Royal death, Kim gets wed...and England are World Cup flops

2014 BY PSYCHIC WHO PREDICTED WHITNEY'S DEATH

EXCLUSIVE
by RUTH HARRISON

IN the next 12 months Kim Kardashian will wed for the third time, Jessica Biel will be pregnant by hubby Justin Timberlake and Tom Cruise will meet a stunning model who will be his next wife.

There will also be a royal death which will change our monarchy for ever, England will NOT win the World Cup and Angelina Jolie and Brad Pitt will face their most challenging year yet.

The predictions for 2014 come from celebrity psychic Thomas John in an exclusive interview with The Sun on Sunday – and if they are as bang-on as his previous ones, it is set to be an unforgettable year.

He predicted Whitney Houston's 2012 death a month in advance, knew Jennifer Lawrence would tumble as she went up to get her Oscar last year and "saw" the Boston Marathon bombings before they happened.

Speaking from his home in New York, 29-year-old Thomas said: "In 2014 England will not win the World Cup, as they get kicked out in the quarter finals. The final will be Brazil v Argentina, with Brazil winning."

"A leading figure in the Royal Family will pass away, but thankfully there is lots of good news too."

"Recently I have felt strongly that Kate is being increasingly guided by Princess Diana's spirit.

"This will see her following a similar path to Diana's, involving even more charity work as she tries to uphold her legacy."

As for Thomas's predictions for US showbiz royalty, he said: "Katy Perry and John Mayer might have just released a single together but I can definitely say that their relationship will not last."

"Tom Cruise will fall for a stunning unknown model and I can see this woman becoming Mrs Cruise."

"Love is also in the air again for Justin Bieber, who falls for a new girl."

Thomas also spoke about Kim Kardashian tying the knot with Kanye West – in a SECRET ceremony.

He said: "Kim will wear a huge white gown but the wedding won't be in a church, or in Los Angeles, but in a far-off, remote location – and it will be before July."

But Jennifer Aniston will not get hitched to her actor beau Justin Theroux next year, and neither will her ex-husband Brad Pitt and Angelina Jolie.

Thomas said: "Everyone has been saying Jennifer is trying for a baby and she will be marrying Justin, but I predict there will be no baby or wedding, as they are just happy as they are."

"Brad and Angelina also won't get married. I predict

Brad is getting restless and growing tired of Angelina. While they won't split up this year, it is definitely on the cards for 2015.

"I also see David and Victoria Beckham having a tough year, their relationship will be tested to the limit too."

r.harrison@the-sun.co.uk

